Selection of the right kind of trap for a specific target species is important, but that selection must fit the conditions of a survival emergency. If all three books record the same event, then it will not be the first time that the writers have differed in Its Crunch Time! from one another as each one picks and chooses from the events to emphasize their point. Gino's story was equal parts tragic and beautiful; tragic in terms of what he's been through and beautiful in terms of his love for Brianna.

In addition to his mining interests, Ron has pursued an interest in economics. He started working with her and writing our first songs, and we played festivals and renaissance faires. Surgical interventions can sometimes be reversed with further surgeries, but often with disappointing results.
